01 Brand foundations.

Category

Functional fitness repeatability capsule. Not a pre-workout powder. Not a fat-burner. Not a pump product.

Primary audience (single ICP)

Consistency-seeking functional fitness athletes training 4–6+ sessions per week who want to maintain quality output when fatigue builds and recover ready for the next session. Supplement-literate; they read labels and treat supplements as part of a training stack.

Adjacent audience: serious endurance athletes (runners, cyclists, triathletes). Visual register and copy should lead with functional fitness and not exclude endurance.

Brand register

Brand — design is the product. Marketing surfaces (homepage, PDP, science, about, FAQ) carry the brand; the storefront is itself a brand statement, not just a transactional surface.

Brand promise

Finish Strong. Recover Ready.

Positioning (internal)

NØ QUIT is the phenylcapsaicin-anchored capsule designed to support late-session output and recovery after hard training, so athletes can train hard more consistently.

What NØ QUIT is NOT

- Not a stimulant "buzz" product.
- Not a pump-first product.
- Not a weight-loss / thermogenic brand.
- Not a product that encourages unsafe training or "ignoring pain."

Anti-references (must never feel like)

- Supplement-bro hype (Bang / C4 / GNC). Neon greens, ALL CAPS GAINS, before/after photos.
- Pharmacy-clinical bland (CVS / Centrum). Blue + white, stock-smile models, regulatory tone.
- Cottage-wellness (Goop / Moon Juice). Pastel + beige, hand-lettering, "rituals."
- Generic DTC Shopify. Inter on off-white, identical hero + product grid, rounded everything.

Differentiation (one line)

Repeatability + recovery in one clean capsule, with a science moat kept off-pack (QR) to preserve premium branding.

02 Brand architecture & naming rules.

Visual brand mark (logo)

NØ QUIT, slashed Ø (Unicode U+00D8).

Digital / searchable string

NOQUIT PERFORMANCE — no special characters. Use this for domains, email, social handles, page titles, alt text, SEO.

Writing rules

- Logo: always write NØ QUIT (Ø). Export as outlined vector for print to avoid glyph rendering issues.
- In body copy: "No Quit Performance" (Title Case) is acceptable. Avoid Ø in URLs.
- Never use "CrossFit" or imply endorsement. Use "functional fitness" or "high-intensity training."
- Keep the product descriptor factual: "Phenylcapsaicin Capsules." Avoid selling the dose as a headline.

Product naming (Route A launch)

Working product name: NØ QUIT Phenylcapsaicin Capsules (60 Capsules).

Front-of-pack promises are the product identity; the ingredient descriptor stays small and factual.

Punctuation conventions

- Em dashes (—): reserved for metadata only (page titles, review attributions like "Marcus T. — Denver, CO", quotation attributions, footer copyright separators, table NULL cells).
- In body copy: never use em dashes. Use periods, commas, semicolons, or colons. Density of em dashes is the strongest AI fingerprint in written copy.
- Middle dot (·): used in CTA constructions like "Shop NØ QUIT · $59" and label compounds like "Subscribe & Save · Billed Monthly."
- Bullet style: tight, terminal sentences. No trailing em-dash sign-offs.

03 Messaging, voice & compliance.

Voice

Short, disciplined, premium. No hype. No bro-science. No miracle claims. Spare sentences. Clinical accuracy. No exclamation points. No superlatives. No second-person hectoring.

Allowed intensity language

- finish strong
- last reps / late rounds
- when fatigue peaks
- repeatable intensity
- show up ready
- don't fade

Guardrails (never imply)

- Disease treatment, prevention, or diagnosis.
- Pain relief or "numbing" effects.
- Unsafe training: ignoring injury, ignoring pain signals, reckless "push past anything."
- Weight-loss promises (burn fat, shred, melt, etc.).
- Guaranteed PRs or competition outcomes.

Structure / function claim style

- Supports high-intensity exercise performance when fatigue builds.
- Supports recovery after intense training.
- Helps reduce exercise-related muscle soreness (use carefully; avoid "pain relief").
- Supports repeatable training output across the week.

Required disclaimer

These statements have not been evaluated by the Food and Drug Administration. This product is not intended to diagnose, treat, cure, or prevent any disease.

Disclaimer must render at body-text size (13px minimum) and body-text color — never as faded fine print. Place near the claim or in the section footer.

04 Visual identity system.

Logo mark

NØ QUIT wordmark in all caps with Ø (Unicode U+00D8). Export as outlined vector for print to avoid glyph rendering issues. Centered when used in headers; clear space minimum 5mm in print.

Typography

ROLE	FAMILY	WEIGHT	USE
Display / heading	Barlow Condensed	600–900	Hero, section heads, product titles, big numerals
Body	Barlow	300–500	Paragraph copy, supplement facts, FAQ answers
Editorial accent	DM Serif Display	400 italic	Pull quotes, single-word emphasis (sparingly)
Label / eyebrow	Barlow	500 uppercase	Section labels, 10–11px tracked 0.18em

All three families ship via Google Fonts CDN. Web fallback: `sans-serif`. If a print supplier cannot use Barlow Condensed, substitute Bebas or another modern grotesk; keep the Ø mark as vector artwork.

Color palette (canonical)

ROLE	SWATCH	HEX	NOTES
Matte Black		#080808	Primary backgrounds, bottle
Surface		#101010	Section alt background
Surface 2		#161616	Card backgrounds (rail, etc.)
Surface 3		#1E1E1E	Ornament numerals (poster)
Surface 4		#252525	Dim numerals, top of dark ladder
Steel		#6E8494	Accent — labels, brand-color numerals, QR badge
Steel Light		#90A8B8	Secondary accent — captions, small headings
Chalk		#D6D1CB	Hero subhead, secondary text on dark
White		#EDE9E3	Primary text on dark, primary button fill
Text		#A8A39C	Body copy — passes WCAG AA at 5.5:1
Text Dim		#7C7872	Review attributions, footer fine print — AA-Large only (3.5:1)
Warm Chalk		#DDD8D2	Pomelli product-showcase panel (warm interrupt)

04 Color strategy & layout.

Color strategy

Restrained committed monochrome with one accent. Black dominates the surface; steel is the single accent, used at <10% surface coverage. Warm chalk #DDD8D2 is the only off-palette break, reserved for editorial product moments (Pomelli showcase). No gradient text. No glassmorphism as default. No tinted backgrounds outside the listed surface ladder.

Layout principles

- Minimalism: strong whitespace; labels and pages stay uncluttered.
- Hierarchy: brand mark first; promise second; ingredient descriptor third.
- Steel accent is a "whisper," not a theme — use sparingly.
- Container max-width 1320px on web; section padding 148px desktop / 80px mobile.
- No card-grid replication: vary section patterns (see Section 08).

Photography & content style

- Functional fitness environments: rig, chalk, bars, plates, timer. No explicit branded CrossFit signage.
- Emotion: late-session grit, controlled form, "finish" moments.
- Avoid body-shaming transformations, injury content, "fat burn" visuals, stock-model smiles.
- Female and male athletes in roughly equal rotation; performance signals over physique.

05 Packaging system.

Launch SKU

60 Capsules · Phenylcapsaicin Capsules · Matte Black bottle (120cc / 4oz wide-mouth HDPE jar). Label dimensions 6.5" × 2.5", bleed 0.125", CMYK, 300 DPI.

Front panel copy (in hierarchy)

- NØ QUIT
- PERFORMANCE
- Finish Strong.
- Recover Ready.
- Phenylcapsaicin Capsules
- Dietary Supplement
- 60 Capsules

Back panel copy (3 bullets + QR)

- Supports performance when fatigue peaks.
- Supports recovery after intense training.
- Built for repeatable high-intensity training.
- QR badge: "The Science" (links to factual study summary page).

Claims disclaimer

Place near the support bullets at body-text size (not faded fine print): "These statements have not been evaluated by the Food and Drug Administration. This product is not intended to diagnose, treat, cure, or prevent any disease."

Supplement Facts & regulatory notes

- List phenylcapsaicin and amount per serving in Supplement Facts. Keep the amount factual; do not use it as a headline claim.
- Avoid references to CrossFit. Use "functional fitness" wording.
- Include standard caution language: age, pregnancy/nursing, medications, discontinue if adverse effects.

CMYK production references

ROLE	CMYK	ROLE	CMYK
Background (Matte Black)	0 / 0 / 0 / 100	Steel accent	45 / 18 / 0 / 30

06 Website brief.

Primary goal

Convert consistency-seeking functional fitness athletes by making the promise instantly clear and the science accessible without clutter.

Secondary goals

Build trust (quality/testing) and capture emails for retention/subscription. Pre-launch: capture launch-list signups (live checkout is disabled until launch — see microcopy).

Key pages (v1 site)

- Home — brand + promise + product hero + 3 pillars + comparison table + trust + reviews + FAQ preview + email capture.
- Product (PDP) — single SKU, subscribe / one-time, supplement facts, benefits rail (horizontal scroll), reviews, FAQ, shipping.
- Science — QR destination + on-page: compound, observed effects, what it means / what it doesn't, protocol (step-flow), quality.
- About — brand story, three principles (editorial poster), four standards (numbered grid).
- FAQ — categorized, sidebar navigation, contact block.

User journey

- Ad / creator content → Home or PDP.
- Hero promise → supporting bullets → social proof → trust markers → buy.
- Optional deep dive: Science page (factual summaries, no hype).
- Post-purchase: email onboarding → science → community habit.

UX principles

- One screen to understand: what it is, who it's for, why it's different.
- Minimal page weight; fast load; mobile-first.
- Use "supports" language; avoid prohibited claims.
- No CrossFit references. Use "functional fitness / high-intensity training."

Tech stack (current)

- Static HTML + CSS + vanilla JS (no framework, no build step). 5 pages, shared styles.css, shared main.js.
- Fonts via Google Fonts CDN (Barlow Condensed, Barlow, DM Serif Display).
- Pre-launch: cart drawer renders a disabled Checkout button reading "Checkout opens at launch."

Recommended at launch: Shopify or Stripe Checkout for transactions; Klaviyo for email; GA4 + post-purchase 1-question survey.

Accessibility floor: WCAG AA — see Appendix C for full spec.

07 Website copy pack.

7.1 Homepage hero

H1: Finish Strong.

H1 (stroked): Recover Ready.

Subhead: NØ QUIT is a minimal phenylcapsaicin capsule designed to support repeatable high-intensity performance, so you can train hard, recover well, and come back stronger.

3 supporting bullets:

- Performance when fatigue peaks
- Recovery after hard sessions
- Built for repeatable intensity

Primary CTA: Shop NØ QUIT · $59 (middle dot, no em dash)

Secondary CTA: Learn the science →

7.2 Product page (PDP)

Product name: NØ QUIT Phenylcapsaicin Capsules

Short description: A performance capsule built for the last reps and the next session.

Long description: NØ QUIT supports repeatable intensity, helping you stay strong when fatigue builds and supporting recovery after intense training. Minimal formula. Maximum purpose.

Purchase option label: Subscribe & Save · Billed Monthly

Key benefit bullets (claim-safe):

- Supports high-intensity exercise performance when fatigue builds.
- Supports recovery after intense training.
- Helps reduce exercise-related muscle soreness (use with care; avoid pain-relief framing).
- Designed for consistency-seeking athletes training multiple sessions per week.

08 Web design system patterns.

The site uses five named patterns. Never repeat the same pattern more than once per page. Across the site, vary patterns so no two adjacent pages look identical in structure.

Signature numbered grid

HOME – PILLARS

Three or four cards in a grid, each with a small dim numeral, heading, body. Signature device. Use once per page maximum, ideally above the fold.

Horizontal scroll rail

PDP – KEY BENEFITS

4 cards in a horizontal row with scroll-snap-type: x mandatory. Numerals in steel accent. Cards on --c-surface-2. Scrollbar hairline visible.

Editorial poster

ABOUT – THREE PRINCIPLES

Massive numerals (clamp 140–260px) in very dim --c-surface-3, sitting behind a large heading and body. Hairline rules top & bottom of each band.

Step-flow timeline

SCIENCE – PROTOCOL

Three 01/02/03 numerals at 96px white, on a horizontal hairline connector that runs behind. Numerals knock out the line via section-color background.

Standard list (variant)

ABOUT – FOUR STANDARDS · SCIENCE – QUALITY LIST

Two-column grid (4 items) with small steel numeral + heading + body, hairline borders. Use as a counterweight after a signature numbered grid or editorial poster – never as the only pattern on a page.

09 Creator & social toolkit.

Content pillars

- Finish moments (late-session grit, clean form).
- Repeatable week (consistency identity, streaks).
- Recover ready (next-session readiness).
- Minimalism (no shaker, no drama, no hype).
- Proof (QR science page; factual).

Creator do's

- Use functional fitness settings without trademarked signage.
- Speak to consistency: "train hard today, show up ready tomorrow."
- Use support language (supports performance / recovery).
- Include disclosure (#ad, #sponsored) when required.
- Periods, commas, colons. No em dashes in body copy.

Creator don'ts

- No disease claims, no pain-relief claims.
- No fat-loss promises.
- No "ignore injury / ignore pain" messaging.
- No CrossFit references or implied endorsements.
- No "EXPLOSIVE GAINS" caps copy.

Sample 15-second script (UGC)

"The last reps are where I usually fade. NØ QUIT is built for repeatable intensity. Supports performance when fatigue peaks. Supports recovery after hard sessions. Finish strong. Recover ready."

Note the periods. The brand voice gets its weight from stop punctuation, not em dashes.

10 Appendix & changelog.

A. QR 'Science' page draft (plain-English)

Headline: The Science Behind NØ QUIT

NØ QUIT is built around phenylcapsaicin and designed for repeatable high-intensity performance and recovery after hard training.

What researchers observed in trained functional fitness athletes:

- Improved post-session squat performance (load and repetitions).
- Reduced decline in countermovement jump performance.
- Maintained weightlifting performance across rounds.
- Lower delayed-onset muscle soreness at 24h and 48h.

B. Substantiation checklist

- Maintain a claims library (every claim tied to a specific outcome and evidence).
- Keep PDFs of all human studies and internal summaries (one page each).
- Keep COAs and third-party testing reports for each lot.
- Creator compliance: review scripts for banned claims before posting.

C. Accessibility floor

- WCAG AA. Body text contrast $\geq 4.5:1$ (current `--c-text #A8A39C` on `#080808` = 5.5:1, pass).
- Full keyboard navigation across cart, gallery, accordion, purchase toggle, forms.
- `prefers-reduced-motion: reduce` respected: scroll-reveal animations disabled, content visible immediately.
- Descriptive alt text on all product, brand, and editorial images.
- Color never the sole carrier of meaning (e.g. subscribe vs. one-time, error states).
